AT TURKEY TAIL.

FORTY GENTLEMEN AND LADIES CONFINED WITH SALT, ETC.

A Memorable Incident of the Press Excursion, Related by the Editor of the Durham Recorder.

Colonel Cameron attended the Press excursion to Glen Alpine Springs, and after alluding to the beauties of this delightful summer resort, continues on in his usual happy style as follows:

"Whatever was possible to impart a bright glow to the dullness of editorial existence, was here combined; beautiful surroundings, cordial hospitality, delicious fare, fine music, pretty girls, easy and unaffected intercourse, and undeviating good nature, the temper to please and to be pleased, made the time pass with jealous rapidity. Every one of those bright moments passed away, was like a jewel lost forever, though leaving bright reflections sparkling in the memory.

On Saturday afternoon the party packed away in their vehicle—in ours there were eleven inside and three outside, a full load for two horses—left for the station, and reached it to take the down train at half-past ten. But that train never came. In vain we peered through the darkness and the blinding rain for the welcome sight of the headlight of the locomotive; in vain was the ear strained to catch the sound of the far distant whistle. We saw nor heard neither, and hour after hour passed away until the conclusion was reached that Mud Cut had shut down on our plans; and so a night at Turkey Tail was an inevitable, certainty. It was not comfortable by any means. The warehouse in which we were stowed was a small one, not yet finished, the steps not being put up, and the entrance to it, in the dark, difficult and dangerous. Oftentimes, there was no light except what was shed by wet lightwood torches; the floor of the warehouse was filled with wheat in bulk, sacks of salt and boxes of machinery crowded other parts of the house; and in this little, dark and encumbered apartment, forty gentlemen and ladies waited until day break would release them, killing time with song and joke and witticism. A genuine mountain breakfast was served up in the house of the keeper of the station long before dawn, his family, like ourselves, having been awake all night. Soon after day light the welcome sound of the western bound train was heard, and having liberty to use it, we made escape from the warehouse, and went on to Henry. Cloudy as it was, no one regretted having the opportunity of enjoying mountain scenery forced upon them. At Henry we learned the causes of our detention, which was as usual the inevitable mud cut. It had rained very hard the day before, and a small slide had covered the track, and thrown a coach off the rails; and this striking the side of the cut, had brought down more mud, until that car was nearly buried. That party, which was an excursion from Salisbury, spent a miserable night on the mountain. The engine with one coach came down just as our train had begun the ascent.

LATE NEWS NOTES.

The mosquito plague on the Eastern Shore of Maryland must be very bad. The superintendent and train hands of the railroad near Cambridge declare that the mosquitoes have been so thick as to obscure the light of the sun, and that lighted lamps have been necessary at mid-day in the stores and counting-rooms. A correspondent writes: "Never in the history of Tyaskin have the mosquitoes been so thick as they have been during the past week. There is no rest night or day; our only remedy is smoke! smoke! And we have smoked so much that our old women, and young women, too, look like dried beef on a hoof."

The cultivation of the fig in the western Michigan fruit region has proved to be a success. Specimens have been received in Chicago from a Michigan nursery, including a branch four and three-fourths inches in length, bearing seven ripe figs. The crop of the tree from which this branch was taken is estimated at two bushels.

The Lumberman's Gazette estimates that the annual consumption of railroad ties and sleepers is 40,000,000, or thirty years' growth of 75,000 acres. The Gazette suggests that, in view of the rapid depletion of our forests for railroad and other purposes, it would be well if we should hasten in following the example of European States in the adoption of iron cross ties.

A number of the negro emigrants who left Louisiana and Mississippi for Kansas, are drifting down into Texas, around Dallas and Fort Worth. They found Kansas overcrowded with negroes, and a strong prejudice existing against them there, and so moved southward again, preferring Texas because it was nearer than their old homes.

Judge Graves, at Asheville, has rendered a decision in the case of the W. N. C. R. R. vs. W. W. Rollins, President Western Division W. N. C. R. R., in favor of the latter. The Judge ruled that the first section of the statute was, in his opinion, operative, and the 2d and 3d sections were inoperative. The defendant was discharged.

At Springport, Cayuga county, N. Y., Mary Perry, aged 74, sat at tea with some friends. They were relating funny incidents, and Mrs. Perry became convulsed with laughter, and fell back in her chair, dead.

How De Young Decoyed Kalloch.

New York Tribune, August 26.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 25.—Great interest has been manifested to obtain the statement of the American District Telegraph boy who accompanied De Young in the coupe at the time of the shooting, but difficulty has been experienced in finding him, as his name was at first kept secret. A number of contradictory statements have been given out as to the course pursued by De Young immediately preceding the affair, which the boy's statement was expected to clear up. He was discovered by a reporter of the Bulletin today, and his statement as published is as follows:

About 9 o'clock Saturday morning a gentleman drove up to the branch office at No. 961 Mission street, in a coupe and called for a messenger boy. It was my turn to go out and I went with him. I did not know the gentleman in the coupe, never having seen him before.

We drove on to No. 2,314 Nineteenth street. He told me to go into the house and inquire for Mr. Kalloch and tell him that a lady in a coupe wanted to see him. The door was opened by a boy. I delivered the message and the boy told me that Dr. Kalloch was not in. The gentleman told me to inquire what Mr. Kalloch's office hours were. I was told that he was at his office from 10 to 12 o'clock.

We drove from Mr. Kalloch's house along Mission street to Fifth street. Before reaching Fifth street Mr. De Young lowered the window of the coupe. We turned down Jessie street to the entrance to the Temple on that street, passing the buggy before stopping.

When we stopped, Mr. De Young peeped through the curtain of the rear window of the coupe and said: "You see that man with the white ulster on? Tell him that a lady in the coupe wants to see him." I went. The gentleman in the ulster was in the buggy accompanied by another man, and was in the act of picking up the reins when I delivered Mr. De Young's message. He at once stepped down and approached the coupe cautiously, as if he anticipated something wrong, peeping sideways at the window of the coupe. When he reached the coupe the shot was fired, which so frightened me that I ran as fast as I could back to the office.

The boy had not read the accounts in the papers of the impending difficulty between De Young and Kalloch. He did not expect at any time during the ride that the person with him in the coupe intended to do anybody any harm.

De Young, he says, was cool and there was nothing about his person to indicate that he contemplated the deed that was committed.

J. WILKES BOOTH.

THE STORY OF HIS PURSUIT AND DEATH.

Captain Doherty, his Captor, Relates some Incidents Connected with the Daring Man.

Captain Edward P. Doherty, who commanded the detachment of New York cavalry which pursued and captured John Wilkes Booth, Lincoln's assassin, is now a city contractor at New Orleans. He says that the stories about Booth's being still alive are all bosh, for he knew Booth personally, saw him die, and knows that, four years after Booth's body was buried in a penitentiary cell at Washington arsenal, it was delivered to his relatives and now lies in the family vault near Baltimore. Captain Doherty has given a reporter of the New Orleans Picayune a graphic description of Booth's capture, which he accomplished with a force of twenty-five cavalrymen and two citizen detectives. The captain's command was stationed at Germantown, Va., at the time, and he was informed that Booth and his associates were in the neighborhood of Fredericksburg, where no troops had been stationed for some time. But Captain Doherty learned after he started that a regiment of Union cavalry had already gone to Fredericksburg, and he at once made for the south side of the Rappahannock. The captain and an orderly proceeded ahead of the command to Port Conway ferry, where they showed Mrs. Rollins, the ferryman's wife, the photographs of Booth, Harrold and Surrat, representing them as rebel friends who were still unaware of Lee's surrender. Mrs. Rollins said that Booth and Harrold had hired her husband to take them to Orange Court House the evening before, Lieutenants Burbridge, Ruggles and Jett of Mosby's command going with them. The woman said that one of the party (Booth) was wounded in the leg, and as Jett was courting the daughter of hotel-keeper Goldman at Bowling Green, eighteen miles distant, all hands had propably gone there. Captain Doherty at once sent the orderly after his command, and after the last load of horses had been ferried across, he arrested Ferryman Rollins and got him to guide them to Bowling Green, surrounding him with a guard with drawn pistols, that his neighbors might think that he was forced to do it.

The party rode directly to Bowling Green, passing the house of one Garrett on the way, where Booth and Harrold were stopping and took to the woods unnoticed. But Captain Doherty and his men found Lieutenant Jett at Goldman's hotel, and, making him believe that he knew all about his movements for the last three days, and threatening to hang him if he lied, the captain got him to own up that Booth had stopped at Garrett's. Jett was forced to guide the command back, and when they got within a quarter of a mile of the house the captain went on ahead to survey the premises, placed six men as a patrol in the rear of the house and stables and surrounded the house with the rest. Garrett said that Booth and Harrold went to the woods the afternoon before, but one of the sons was finally forced to confess that they had returned and were hidden in the barn. Sergeant Boston Corbett was at once ordered to dismount the force, detail a few to watch the house and surround the barn with the rest. The barn was locked, but one of the Garrett boys was found hiding in the orchard with the key in his pocket, and Captain Doherty called on those inside to come out and surrender.

At first there was no reply, but when the threat was made to burn the barn, Booth called out, "Who do you take us for?" Captain Doherty replied, "It don't make any difference who I take you for, I'm going to arrest you." Booth answered, "Boys, fetch me a stretcher, another stain in our glorious banner." Captain Doherty heard a whispered conversation between Booth and Harrold from the inside, after which Booth said aloud: "I am crippled and alone, give me a chance for my life; draw your men up at 25 paces and I will come out." Captain Doherty replied: "I didn't come here to fight, but to capture you. I have 50 men here, and can do it." After a dead silence for about five minutes, Booth said in a very sarcastic tone, "Oh, captain, there's a man here that wants to surrender awful bad." Captain Doherty replied, "You had better do the same, and come out." Booth—"No, I have not made up my mind." Captain Doherty, partly opening the door—"Le him hand out his arms." Booth—"He has no arms." Captain Doherty—"I know exactly what you've got." Booth—"I own all the arms, and may have to use them on you gentlemen." Harrold had approached the door, when Captain Doherty said to him, "Let me see your hands." Harrold put both hands out through the door, and seizing them, handed him over to the corporal.

While Captain Doherty was taking Harrold out of the front door, the barn had been fired in the rear. The flames burst out suddenly, and Booth took a position in the center of the barn, facing the door. He pointed his carbine in the direction of Harrold and Captain Doherty, when Sergeant Corbett, who was stationed at one of the openings in the barn to the left of Booth, observing the movement, leveled a large sized Colt's revolver at Booth and fired. He intended to hit Booth in the arm to disable him, but the ball entered his neck, about one inch from the same place where Booth shot President Lincoln. Captain Doherty supposed that Booth had shot himself rather than surrender, and the officers rushed into the barn. Booth stood with the carbine between his legs, one of his crutches having dropped, and as he was about falling forward, Captain Doherty caught him around the body and carried him outside of the barn. The heat becoming too intense, Captain Doherty ordered him removed under the veranda of the Garrett mansion. Soldiers were then dispatched in different directions for doctors, but only one, Dr. Urquart, could be found. He arrived about 6 a. m., and, after probing the wound, pronounced it fatal, the ball having ranged upward, cutting a vital part. From the time Booth was shot, at 5 o'clock, until he expired, two hours later, he spoke but once, and that was to Captain Doherty, shortly before 6 o'clock, when he said, "Hands." Captain Doherty lifted up his hands, Booth looked at them for an instant, and, shaking his head, exclaimed, "Useless, useless." A short time after he became unconscious and so remained until he died.

The government had offered $100,000 for Booth's capture, and Baltimore and Washington $50,000 more. Washington's offered reward is now in litigation before the supreme court, the district court having decided against the claim, on the ground that the city had no authority to offer the reward. Baltimore refused to pay her reward point blank, and the claim against her has lapsed by limitation. The government paid $75,000 of its reward, Captain Doherty receiving $7,500, the two citizen detectives $4,000 each, Sergeants Boston, Corbett and Wandell $2,200 each, Chief Detective Lafayette C. Baker, of the war department, $3,750, and the cavalrymen the rest of the $75,000 pro rata.

HAD THE DROP ON HIM.

A Terrible and Fatal Battle Between Two Farmers Near Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 25.—James Dobbins and Michael Burns, farmers and neighbors, living six miles west of here, in Kansas, had a desperate and fatal encounter Friday evening, in which both were killed. It appears that Dobbins, who owed Burns money, on the evening named, while passing Burns' place was dunned offensively for it by Burns. The latter having a revolver in his hands, Dobbins said: "You have the drop on me now, but if you'll wait till I come back I'll be ready to meet you." Dobbins then drove home, got two revolvers, went back to Burns' house, found him sitting on the doopstep and opened fire on him. Burns went into his house, got his revolver, rushed on Dobbins and several shots were exchanged at very close quarters. Dobbins received two balls in the chest and one through the head, while Burns was shot in the abdomen, the ball passing clear through his body and into the right arm. Notwithstanding these terrible wounds the men clinched in a fierce and deadly struggle, Dobbins falling underneath. In this position Burns beat Dobbins over the head with the butt of a pistol till he thought him dead, and had partially risen from the ground, when Dobbins turned him and was about to beat him when neighbors arrived and separated them. Dobbins died before he could be taken home, and Burns died early next morning.

HOTEL INCIDENT.

An Interesting Interview with Chas. E. Leland, who has just Given up the Clarendon.

Gath, in the Brooklyn Eagle.

Charles E. Leland, proprietor of the Clarendon Hotel, in Saratoga, has just relinquished that property to the persons from whom he bought it, after having paid $55,000 upon it, and added $40,000 for necessary improvements. Notwithstanding this sacrifice, he has had the best season this year that has been known since the large hotels were constructed here. At one time the Clarendon was the principal house in this village, after the burning of the brick hotel. The settling of prices made it absolutely impossible, with existing profits, that he could go on and pay for that property at the rate he took it, namely, $160,000. He told me a rather touching story of hotel life today:

"I was twenty-two years old," he said, "when I concluded to lease this property, at about $10,000 a year rent. I was possessed of just $1,700, and out of terms with my uncles, the older branch of the Lelands, so that they gave me no help. I borrowed $2,000 on my note from Dr. Quackenbos, which I had to pay on closing the bargain. The lady who owned the house said that she thought a boy, 'a child,' as she expressed it, a rather queer person to come up and take this hotel. I got in town with one of my brothers, paid my $2,000 over, and we tacked down most of the carpets and put in the furniture ourselves. A liquor merchant gave me credit for my liquors. I had to buy my stores, however; when I had bought and paid for these stores it was still necessary that I should buy an omnibus and a baggage wagon to bring passengers from the depot. I had money enough to pay for a pair of horses and the omnibus, but not for the baggage wagon, and a man sold me this appurtenance for $120, but would not give me much time. My note to him was due on the 4th day of June. I mounted the omnibus myself, and went to the depot on the 1st of June. Nobody came. On the 2nd day of June it was just the same. On the 3d day a gentleman came from Louisville with his wife and two children. I gave them my best rooms, and they were all the guests I had. The next day my note was due for $120, and I hadn't a dollar. All that night I walked the floor and laid awake in the greatest misery, expecting to be closed out next day. On the next day the Louisville man stepped up to the office and said: "Mr. Leland, I expect to be with you some time, and here are $200 which you had better put on my account." I took the money and went behind my counter, unknown to him, and there I cried like a child for about fifteen minutes.

"Early that summer the United States Hotel burned down, and I cleared $20,000 in my house. Then I took the Delavan House, at Albany, at $50,000 a year rent. My brother Lewis had $10,000, and I put him in with me, and in six months I had earned for him $25,000, which he took and went out. For several years there I made $50,000 a year, paying $50,000 rent. When I bought this hotel at Saratoga I was worth a quarter of a million dollars. The Delavan House was making $50,000 a year, and I owned all the furniture in it, and had paid for it a hundred thousand dollars more, and I had $90,000 in cash. I then resolved to buy the property at the high figure of $160,000. My business had been splendid here for years. Scarcely had I bought the place when they went to work all around me and put up these great brick hotels, at a cost in the aggregate of more than $4,000,000. Then the panic came, and Saratoga began to fall off. I found I could not stand under so much debt; it was killing me. Now my hands are free. I have done a good business this year, and I expect to keep right on here. Meantime my rent at the Delavan has been reduced to something reasonable—about one-half of the former rent I paid. There is no use trying to do business without commencing on the new basis of contraction and resumption.

Mr De Young's Friends Declare Mr. Kalloch Out of Danger---The Public Feeling.

The following prepaid despatch was sent to the N. Y. Sun.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—Kalloch is pronounced out of danger by a committee of surgeons. With his prospective recovery the riotous, revengeful spirit of the sand lots is subsiding. Public opinion is more favorable to De Young. The outrageous charge against Mrs. De Young, whose life here has made her many friends, was so infamous that people are now justifying the action of her son, whose almost fanatical reverence for, and devotion to his mother is well known in this community.

The Republican and Democratic nominees for Mayor will be withdrawn, and Judge Blake will receive the joint nomination of both parties and the support of all law and order citizens in opposition to Kalloch and the sand lots.

J. S. OAKFORD.

By quietly buying up all the grain sacks in the California market (estimated at about fifteen million), a party of speculators have made a corner in that article at a time when the farmers must have them or lose on their grain. The ring will probably "bag" a profit of $450,000 on an outlay of $1,350,000.

POISON IN MILK CANS.

NEW YORK'S BOARD OF HEALTH STARTLED INTO ACTIVITY.

An Unrelenting War to be Waged --Two Hundred Samples of Villainous Swill.

NEW YORK, August 26.—Dr. Elwyn Waller, chemist to the Board of Health, exhibited over two hundred samples of milk at an extra session of the Board yesterday, none of which approached even the standard test. The lactometer, in its registrations, showed that the majority of the samples contained little or no milk, while in some instances an analysis proved beyond contradiction that there was not a quart of pure milk to be found in a can full. Large quantities of chalk were found in nearly every case, together with other ingredients, which Mr. Waller had not had time to determine. The adulteration of milk, the chemist said, was becoming so widespread that it was necessary to check it. The milk which Dr. Waller tested was procured by a number of inspectors from both large and small dealers, who did not know who they were, and believed that the milk was bought for table use.

Dr. Janes, Assistant Sanitary Superintendent, and Dr. Waller then tested the milk in the presence of the Commissioners, and showed to what an extreme milk had been adulterated by both wholesale and retail dealers, but by the latter more especially. On a written requisition from Dr. Janes, a number of inspectors were detailed to assist Mr. L. Brennan, Milk Superintendent, in making charges against and causing the arrest of all dealers whose milk was found to be so adulterated as to render it unfit for use. Dr. Janes stated that the Department had a long list containing the names of the offenders. There was no use, he said, in having these people fined in nominal sums in the police courts, as it had not the slightest effect upon them, for the reason that their profits were so large that the fines inflicted were a mere bagatelle. For some time past these dealers have not been disturbed, the Board having relied on their promises to abstain from the practice of adulterating milk.

President Chandler drew the attention of the other members of the Board to the statutes under which dealers found adulterating their milk could be punished. (Sections 29, 31, 45 and 186 of the Sanitary Code.) "The latter section," said the President, "provided that 'no milk which has been watered, adulterated, reduced or changed in any respect by the addition of water or other substance, or by the removal of cream, shall be brought into, held, kept or offered for sale at any place in the city of New York, nor shall any one keep, have or offer for sale any such milk.'" I think," he added, "that we ought to deal summarily with such cases and stamp out this nefarious practice. I am, for one, of the opinion that the Board should give Inspector Brennan as many officers as he needs, even if we have to employ additional help. We have of late been dealing too leniently with these people, so much so indeed that it appears they cast us aside altogether. Let the counsel of the Board be notified of our intention of opening a regular crusade on these parties, so that when they are arraigned in court we may be prepared for a rigid prosecution. This system of adulterating milk has been tolerated long enough and must be stamped out for all time, if possible.

Dr. Janes then read and submitted to the Board a host of complaints which had been forwarded to him from respectable families, begging that something be done to put a stop to the sale of impure milk. A number of the parties forwarded samples of milk which they had purchased for use, but found it had sickened the children. In addition to forwarding these samples the names of the dealers from whom the adulterated milk was purchased were sent in.

It was resolved to supply Inspector Brennan with as many assistants as he deemed necessary and that he be instructed to proceed at once.

Mr. Henry Schaffer, President of the Milk Dealers' Association, claims that the reports made by milk inspectors to the Board of Health are greatly exaggerated. "We have," he said, "as good lactometers as the Board of Health, and these harsh measures on the part of the Commissioners are for the purpose of unnecessarily persecuting us. These inspectors will rush into a dealer's place and insist that his milk has been watered, or adulterated in some shape or other, and drag him to a police court, where the word of a dealer is thought no more of than would be that of one of our greatest criminals. I am in a position to prove that one lactometer out of a dozen used by the Board of Health is incorrect in its registrations. It is remarkably strange that the Board of Health should take the word of their inspectors, who carry no lactometers round with them. How can any milk dealer tell what has been done with the sample of his milk which one of these men may take before it reaches the Board of Health and has undergone analyzation? There are several cases on record where inspectors themselves have been found adulterating milk so as to make out a good case."

Dr. White and Inspector Brennan of the Sanitary Bureau obtained the signature of Justice Duffy, in the Yorkville Court yesterday, to four warrants against retailers of adulterated milk.

Conkling's Residence.

Gath, in the Brooklyn Eagle.

As soon as you get off the cars at Utica you see looming overhead a large hotel with the laconic sign of Baggs'. Baggs House is Utica's capitol. Climbing up there you see that Baggs' is in the eye of a broad business avenue, and a straight residence street, meeting easterly along its front. The street and the avenue, gradually deviating, both cross the Erie Canal and climb an eminence. The avenue is called Genesee, and is the former great stage road to the West, passing through all the New York belt cities; the street is John street and about half a mile from Baggs' Hotel, on the summit of the elevation, it is stopped by the green woodland grounds of a fine gray brick house, with a stone wall and black iron gates in front. Here is Mr. Conkling's residence.

It is in a park which contains five or six houses, all in line and unseparated by fences, and standing back about 200 yards from the beautiful cross street called Rutgers avenue, which is the most elaborate private street in Utica, quite wide, paved with concrete, and with four rows of shade trees down its broad green side; the foot walks limestone. Conkling's house seems to occupy the highest spot in Utica, the crown of a knoll, which falls away gently on every side. All the other houses in the park are accessory to it and of inferior size. His house is the centre of the square and is a square house with high steps and a portico, a large treble windowed door, a gallery running all around the sky line, and a red, flattish conical roof with an observatory or lookout, also galleried and supporting three globes and a tall flagstaff. The four tall chimneys are all surmounted with lightning rods and bolted to the roof by rods as if they might fall off. Each side of the front steps, almost against the house, rises a fir tree, slender and blue, and trimmed to subordination. The dwelling is two stories high, only three broad windows wide, five windows deep, and behind it is a garden and stable. The carriage way in front encircles a flower plot. Beautiful trees rises on the lawn but do not conceal the house; the oaks and pines are trimmed up their shafts; the maples make balls of dark humid shade, a great apple tree flanks the house; walnut and hickory trees are in the arborium. The house may have cost $25,000; with the grounds it is probably worth $40,000 in these times. The locality is the best in Utica.

This house belonged to Rutger Miller and was reserved from the Bleecker estate. Mrs. Miller is the widowed sister of Horatio Seymour and Mrs. Conkling. It was bought by Conkling, and to it go the State politicians, slily slipping up John street unseen and departing unknown. There Conkling, when at home, works till two or three o'clock in the morning, writing his mail and reading. He has few friends, chiefly dependents, but more admirers, generally people from Europe, Scotch and English. Since the late scandal these latter are a good deal dazed and doubtful. He speaks of his daughter's husband as "Mrs. Conkling's son-in-law," but the young man has ten friends to Conkling's one.

The Story of a Woman Who was Black and is White.

Philadelphia Times.

The story which came all the way from Arkansas the other day about a negro whose black body was gradually but perceptibly becoming white, thus making a long delayed but affirmative answer to the Scriptural question of the Prophet Jeremiah, seems to have found a fellow in this end of the world—New Jersey. The western story styled the phenomenon as "the greatest wonder of the age." Egg Harbor, noted for grapes and watermelons, has just another such freak of nature as that of an "Ethiopian who can change his skin." She was in her early youth very black, but is now almost as white as a Caucasian. This Mrs. Emeretta Bowling, about twenty-eight years old, is living with her husband in that wine-growing community of Germans that have made the sandy soil of the Jersey blossom as a rose. She lives about two miles from the station, and although rather reticent about the remarkable change which she has undergone, yet she answers all questions asked of her with courtesy. In general appearance she is rather below the average height, of slight figure, with large brown eyes, mouth somewhat large, and large full lips, after the manner of her race. Her cheek bones are of the African cast, protruding, but well rounded. For a person of her race the general outline of her features would be considered somewhat uniform and regular, though her face is rather square. Her hair has reversed the natural order of things and changed from gray to coal black, though it was in her girlhood black and crispy. The first glimpse of her was by the light of a bonfire of brush in the rear yard, but from here, after some persuasion, she reluctantly removed to an inner apartment of the house to listen to the questions of her visitor of yesterday.

On the other side of the room was her brother—black, as she was formerly, and apparently elated with his white sister and profuse in his description of her changed condition. At the table was seated the family, consisting of a father and three children, proud to relate the manner in which the mother of the household was thus peculiarly favored in her white estate. Mrs. Bowling was of negro parentage, born black—a color which she retained until the age of fourteen years. This phenomenon of nature then made its first appearance on the back of her neck in perfectly white spots; thence it extended to the back of her hand, whence for nearly a dozen years it gradually continued to overspread her entire person in every direction, each spot being about the size of a copper penny and so close together as to almost entirely eradicate the blackness which once distinguished her. There is now on her body but one narrow black stripe about the lower lip and one also about the neck, both covering not two square inches. These stripes are in such striking contrast with the common whiteness as to look like sores, for which they are almost always taken.

She spoke of enjoying almost perfect health during her entire life, and the cause or nature of this wonderful transformation is as unknown to her as it is to her many physicians, who have attributed it to affections of the liver, blood and kidneys, ailments of which she has not the slightest conception. She declines to make an exhibition of herself and has several times refused liberal offers to travel with showmen.

Mr. Denis Kearney Telegraphs his View of the Situation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25.—Kalloch is resting easy at present, and everything is very quiet. There is no danger of riot or trouble. The workingmen are gathering strength hour by hour. Our county and State ticket will be elected by large majorities. San Francisco will send White, the Workingmen's candidate, into the State with 10,000 majority, sure. I have now christened the Honorable Bilks party "the murderers' party." Their only arguments are the pistol and the dagger. It is the Democratic party under a new name, organized for the purpose of defeating the Workingmen's party in the interest of the Republican party with Grant for President. Its supporters are the land grabbers, the Chinese Six Companies, the Chinese employers, the slave drivers, slave traders, and slaveholders—the oppressors of labor and destroyers of free institutions the fresh water thieves and political bummers, lunch fiends and unhung murderers, and their organ is the Chronicle. Their candidate for Governor has grabbed 135,000 acres of land, and is the heaviest Chinese employer in the State, while the railroad highwaymen, the bank smashers, and other thieving monopolies are supporting the Republican party. In other words, the thieves are now fighting, and honest men are bound to get their rights. I predicted that the Chronicle would jump the track. DENIS KEARNEY.

Where Stewart's Body Is.

MONTREAL, Aug. 25.—Apropos of the recent revival of the subject of the robbery of the late A. T. Stewart's body, the following may be considered authentic: "A gentleman who returned here yesterday from New York states that he held a conversation with one of the sub-managers connected with the large Stewart establishment on Broadway. During the conversation the grave robbery was brought up, and the employe said recent publications in relation to the matter have been gotten up for excitement. The body was paid for some time ago and placed in a vault, under the wholesale department, where it awaits the completion of the cathedral being built by Mrs. Stewart."

THE SLOPE SENSATION.

THE LATEST TIDINGS FROM SAN FRANCISCO.

Kalloch Said to be Getting Well---Speculations on the Result Should the Wounded Man Die.

Washington Post.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 26.—It is now acknowledged that the first sensational reports sent east were enormously exaggerated. No violence was attempted by the mob. Had any been, the authorities were amply prepared. The Chinese were left out of the question. After the first shock, the city has not been disturbed in the slightest. You cannot express this too strongly. Mrs. De Young knows nothing of Charles' shooting. Special editions of the Chronicle are being printed for her. Mike De Young visited her last night, informing her that Charley was in Oakland. Charles conducts the paper and the new constitution campaign from his cell. Five cells and an airy corridor are at his disposal. R. H. Loyd, one of the most respectable attorneys here, says that some time ago Napthali voluntarily acknowledged to him the statement regarding Mrs. De Young was wholly false; that to quiet his conscience he wrote and signed an affidavit, declaring the statement to be a base falsification, handing Loyd the affidavit, declaring that he never would circulate another copy of the Sun article. Kalloch visited him and requested a copy of the Sun article. Napthali declined. Kalloch offered him $50 for a copy, but he refused, stating that he knew the remarks regarding Mrs. De Young to be false. Friday evening Napthali went up to Kalloch on the platform, saying, "Berate the boys as much as you please, but say nothing of the mother." Kalloch replied, "I will say more." Saturday morning Napthali saw Kalloch and said, "Now, look out for yourself, for they will try to decoy you, and shoot you." Kalloch answered, "I am prepared."

SAN FRANCISCO, August 26.—Rev. Mr. Kalloch's condition is still critical, but indications for his recovery are more favorable than heretofore. The ball has been extracted from his thigh. He was sketched for a New York illustrated paper. He conversed freely with his family to-day. It is rumored that Kearney has proposed agreeing on a candidate for mayor, to be named by the workingmen. The political situation is still very much mixed, though the Republicans are gaining slightly from the re-action.

CHICAGO, August 26.—Baron Von Jemsen, of San Francisco, is stopping here. He is intimately acquainted with Kalloch and De Young, and is very strong in the belief that De Young was justified in shooting him on sight. The Baron says; "You people here can never understand the way in which papers are conducted in 'Frisco. There was once on the Chronicle a reporter named Napthali. He had been a hard case, and was several times sent to the Industrial school, from which he was released through the influence of the De Youngs, who gave him a place on their journal. Soon after the Chronicle commenced its war on the gamblers, and made it hot for them. The gamblers, in order to get even, started the Sun, and hired Napthali to run it. He started in to vilify the De Youngs. The gamblers' sheet only lived a few months. About the last thing they published was a horrible lie about Mrs. De Young running an assignation house in St. Louis. For that article De Young went gunning after Napthali, shot at him, and was fired at in return. The Sun was suppressed, and the matter patched up somehow. Now comes Kalloch, who is a demagogue of the worst stripe, repeating the story, which everybody knows to be untrue, and he got shot for it. It served him right, too. De Young gave him fair warning that he would shoot him on sight. I differed from the De Youngs in politics when the Chronicle first took up with Kearney. I told the boys they ought both to be hung, with Kearney in the middle. In spite of all this, I know them well, and like them, and I know this story about Mrs. De Young is an infamous lie. The outcome will be that Kalloch will live and continue his evil career, or die and make tracks for hell. As for De Young, unless the hoodlums get hold of him he will be all right. No California jury ever convicted a man for such an offense, and I believe no jury ever will."

With the exception of a vigorous attack on the Chronicle, by Young, the Kalloch workingmen's mass meeting last night was devoted to general campaign topics, and after adjournment the audience dispersed quietly. Kalloch's condition to-day remains favorable.

WESTON AND THE WALK.

Mr. Vanderbilt will not Let the Pedestrians Use Madison Square Garden.

New York Star, 26th.

The friends of Edward Payson Weston are to start from Pier 46, North River, at 6 o'clock to-morrow morning, in a special steamboat, to meet the steamship Nevada in the lower bay, and will give him an enthusiastic welcome. The possibility of a failure to get a suitable place to hold the match, after all, is vexing sporting men, and fears are entertained that the contest may be postponed. Mr. Vanderbilt sent a verbal message yesterday by his agent to the lessees of Madison Square Garden that under no circumstances would he consent to the use of the Garden for a walking match. The managers of the Garden said last evening that they would pay no attention to the notice, and would go on with their preparations, at least until formal written notice was served on them.

DAILY NEWS

GEO. C. JORDAN, Editor and Prop'r.

THURSDAY, - - AUGUST 28, 1879.

DENIS KEARNEY counseled law and order, when he came to address his 20,000 men on the sand lots of San Francisco in regard to the attempt to murder Kalloch, and peace is restored to the imperiled city. The first determination on the part of the mob to wait for Kearney's arrival gave time for moderation. It is to be feared that this martyrdom will greatly increase the chances of Kalloch's election. It is a pity that men of the character of Kalloch and De Young should be the subject of so much uproar.

THE Virginia conservatives have strengthened their stand in defense of the State debt by another address from the State Executive Committee, pointedly showing that the success of the readjusters would endanger their public school system. This system, inaugurated in 1870, is now getting well established, and it is claimed that a better does not exist in any State in the Union. The readjusters were defeated in the last Legislature in their attempt to get the schools remanded from State to local control, and the people are just finding out enough of the benefits of efficient schools to appreciate them.

THE German government has begun to pay out the silver thaler pieces which come into the treasury instead of retiring them and paying out gold. This practically ends for the present the attempt to establish a single standard. The amount of the coins still in circulation is variously estimated to be worth from $100,000,000 to $120,000,000. The amount withdrawn by the government and sold for bullion at a loss of $24,000,000 amounted to $157,000,000. Germany has also in circulation about $60,000,000 worth of Austrian thalers. In round numbers the attempt to introduce the single standard is suspended with from $150,000,000 to $180,000,000 of the silver which the government set out to retire still in circulation.

THE decrease in the agricultural population of Ireland, by no means an unmixed evil under the system of tenure and cultivation still existing, steadily continues. A return just made for 1878 shows that out of 16,000,000 acres under cultivation in Ireland in 1877, 90,000 acres were abandoned last year as unprofitable. The number of occupants of agricultural lands fell off in the same proportion, dropping to 531,452 in 1878, or 2,284 less than in 1877. About four-fifths of the land in Ireland is under cultivation, the total acreage being 20,819,000, and all but 36,000 acres which is divided into holdings less than an acre large, is owned by but 32,000 persons, not one in every 200 of the population.

THE thriftness of the French people is plainly illustrated by the accumulations of the savings banks, which for the seventeen years before the Franco-Prussian war, increased at the rate o about 36,000,000 francs per annum, and in 1870 amounted to 720,000,000 francs. After the war the deposits dropped suddenly to 515,000,000 francs in 1872. They began immediately to recover, however. In 1875 they rose to 660,000,000 francs; in 1876 to 769,000,000 francs, more than before the war; in 1877 to 863,000,000 francs, an increase of nearly 100,000,000 francs in a year, and to 1,010,000,000 francs in 1878. The increase of 437,000,000 francs deposits in four years, when no deposit is allowed to exceed 1,000 francs, is very remarkable. The rule requiring depositors, when the money to their credit amounts to 1,000 francs, to invest it in rentes or government securities, is an excellent one also, nor do depositors object, since the government rates of interest are higher than those allowed by the savings institutions.

THE country has seen with satisfaction that the scandal of Narragansett Pier is dying a natural death. There was more than enough indiscretion in the fact to warrant the criticism of the press, but prudence in the future will retrieve what prudence in the past would have prevented. The presence of Mrs. Sprague at her husband's house takes her cast out of public criticism; the friends of the Senator have a right to point out, as in private they do, that Senator Conkling is at home living with his wife, and so far as the public know held unspotted by her family. The rumor and something more than rumor which linked his name with Mrs. Sprague's was as rife at Washington a year ago last winter as during last session, and last summer midway in this current of gossip Mrs. Conkling received Mrs. Sprague at her home in Utica. These and other facts like them are things which thinking men will consider, but they will also consider the manifold indiscretions which have brought sorrow to one family and have clouded the reputation of a distinguished public man. The occurrence at Narragansett Pier would have been matter for a day's wonder if it had not been backed by the reports of 20 months past.

THE NEW RULES OF THE HOUSE.

As the proposed amendments in the rules of the House, upon which the committee on rules has just decided during its short session at Long Branch, are unanimously recommended by the members of both parties on the committee, there is a fair prospect of their final adoption. They mark an important step toward facilitating not the passage merely but the consideration of business in the House. Speaking broadly, the time of the House each day is divided into a morning hour, in which business is introduced to the attention of the House through committee reports mostly, and the time after the morning hour, which is devoted to the consideration of the business introduced during the morning hour in the order in which it is reported, unless a special day is set for taking it up. As a matter of course, a very few morning hours would cut out work enough to last an entire session, and years ago the short cut was devised of attempting the passage of business in the morning hour. This and other means intended to shorten business have used up the available morning hours, so that an important committee like the committee on the public lands, sometimes has had not over an hour or two during an entire session in which to present its measures. The amendment proposed prohibits the use of the morning hour for the passage of bills. As a result, the number of bills on the calendar will be vastly increased, and as it requires a two-thirds majority to consider any bill on the calendar out of its order, the practical outcome will be that few measures will have either consideration or passage unless two-thirds of the House desire it, but those which are taken up will be more fully debated than in the past.

Treasure-Seekers.

Baltimore Sun.

It is a frequent matter for speculators to visit Europe for the purpose of trying to recover for the government property of the late Confederate States, many millions of dollars' worth of which is said to exist there. Efforts have been made by former Secretaries of the Treasury to recover this kind of property through civil process, but never with success. The government has now adopted the plan of offering a good commission in the way of a heavy percentage of the value of the property recovered to the persons making the recovery. There are a number of persons in Europe trying to earn the tempting offers of the Treasury Department. One returned recently after an unsuccessful hunt.

The Jews and the Roumanians.

Edward King writes to the Boston Journal that "the Roumanians seem willing to sacrifice their independence and the future of their country rather than to accord to a Jew the same rights which they themselves possess. If the Jews to-morrow were allowed to hold land in Roumania, seven-eighths of the finest estates in the country would pass into their hands. The princes and all the smaller nobility would long ago, were it not for their unjust legislation, have been sold out by the Hebrews, who have lent them money at ruinous rates of interest, it is true, but who have taken good security, and who now await with a kind of grim satisfaction the hour of possession. It has been said that if Prince Charles insist upon the fulfillment of the Berlin treaty stipulations his people will rise in revolt against him. How much good diplomatic pressure may effect it is difficult to say. But the Roumanians are not exactly a reasonable people, and it is to be feared that they will welcome revolution rather than see themselves turned houseless adrift by half a million clever money-lending Jews."

Peculiarities of Speech.

From Causeur, in Paris Register.

Every one has some peculiarity of speech. The Yorkshire man is known all over England by his curious accent, and the Cockney has for centuries been the butt of ridicule for his unkind treatment of his "aitches" and his transpositions of V and W. Our Southerners call us all "Yankees" above Mason and Dixon's line, and accuse us of saying "I guess and calculate," and we retaliate by saying "I reckon that's so!" I have a lady friend who has a weakness for saying "I say!" and begins most of her sentences in that manner. One day some person was asking a mutual friend what Mrs. "I Say" called her husband when she addressed him familiarly. His Christian name happened to be Hezekiah, or Ebenezer, or Jehosaphat, or some other Biblical name hard to shorten into "Hossy," or "Phattie." The friend made answer, "Oh, she merely calls him 'I Say.'"

Bound for the North Pole.

Report of Lieutenant De Long, of the Jeannette.

The Navy Department has received a letter, dated Oonalashki Island, August 4th, from Lieutenant George W. De Long, commanding the Arctic exploring ship Jeannette. He arrived there on the 2d instant, and found at anchor the revenue steamer Rush, which, during a recent cruise to the northward and eastward of East Cape, in Siberia without having encountered any ice whatever. Supposing that Professor Nordenskjold had already passed south, no communication was had by the Rush with St. Lawrence bay. No communication from St. Lawrence bay had been received at St. Michaels at the date of the sailing of the Rush, on the 23d of July, and consequently there was no knowledge of the safety or movements of Professor Nordenskjold's party. From all intelligence received from the northward it appears that the last winter has been an exceptionally mild one, and that no obstruction to navigation in the shape of ice has been encountered. Lieutenant De Long regrets that the necessity of loading the Jeannette so deeply at San Francisco has made her progress so slow—coupled with head winds and swell—that it is doubtful whether she will be able to profit by the open water in the Arctic sea in the efforts to gain a high latitude this season. He would leave for St. Michaels on the 6th instant, and if, upon arrival there, nothing has been heard of the party under command of Professor Nordenskjold, he would proceed to St. Lawrence bay, in Siberia, to obtain news of him. The health of all on board the Jeannette remains good.

CELEBRATED

FOR THE CURE OF

Hepatitis, or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver.

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure; sometimes the pain is in the left side; the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side; sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm. The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness; the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax; the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part. There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight, dry cough is sometimes an attendant. The patient complains of weariness and debility; he is easily startled, his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin; his spirits are low; and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it. In fact, he distrusts every remedy. Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged.

AGUE AND FEVER

DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine, are productive of the most happy results. No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine. We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL.

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled.

BEWARE OF IMITATIONS.

The genuine are never sugar coated.

Every box has a red wax seal on the lid, with the impression DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS. The genuine DR. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS bear the signatures of C. McLANE and FLEMING BROS. on the wrappers.

Insist upon having the genuine DR. C. McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, prepared by Fleming Bros., of Pittsburgh, Pa., the market being full of imitations of the name McLane, spelled differently but same pronunciation.

Dyspepsia.

If VEGETINE is taken regularly, according to directions, a certain and speedy cure will follow its use.

Faintness at the Stomach.

VEGETINE is not a stimulating bitters which creates a fictitious appetite, but a gentle tonic, which assists nature to restore the stomach to a healthy action.

Female Weakness.

VEGETINE acts directly upon the causes of these complaints. It invigorates and strengthens the whole system, acts upon the secretive organs and allays inflammation.

General Debility.

In this complaint the good effects of the VEGETINE are realized immediately after commencing to take it; as debility denotes deficiency of the blood, and VEGETINE acts directly upon the blood.

Vegetine is Sold by all Druggists.

Talbott's Patent Spark Arrester.

THE INVENTION OF THE AGE.

Talbott's new Patent Spark Arrester is really the only perfect and reliable one, and is superseding all others in use. The great efficiency of this Arrester is attracting universal attention, and is being endorsed by the best mechanical engineers and insurance companies. Its prominent features are:

It does not destroy the draft.

It does not interfere with cleaning the tubes.

It will not choke up, and requires no cleaning.

It requires no direct dampers to be opened when raising steam (dampers being objectionable, as they may be left open and allow sparks to escape.)

It requires no water to extinguish sparks, which, by condensation, destroys the draft. Besides, when water is used, if neglected, the efficiency is destroyed by evaporation of the water, and the boiler is kept in a filthy condition.

It is simple and durable, and can be relied upon.

It can be attached to any boiler.

No planter should be without one of them. Insurance companies will insure gins and barns where the Talbott Engines and Spark Arresters are used at same rate as harged for water or horse-power.

Hard on Ingersoll.

He came into the editor's room yesterday and stood for a minute looking straight at the troubled and melancholy journalist seated at the desk.

"I want to tell you something," said he.

"Tell it," responded the editor.

"I want you to pay strict attention," said he, "for it's a good thing, and no mistake."

"Well, go ahead."

"Do you want a good drive at Ingersoll?"

The editor remarked something about not being in a perishing condition for the want of drives on the eloquent Robert, but again told the visitor to proceed.

"Well," said he, "now follow me close. Ingersoll does not believe in worshipping God or in worshipping idols. He claims that when a people gets to the point where they discard both, they have reached the pinnacle of enlightenment. Now what is the truth? Is he the orignator of that idea? Not a bit. There is a nation on earth that have had his belief for ages, and they are none other than the barbarous Zulus of Africa. All authorities agree in saying that they worship neither God nor idols. They are on Bob's platform, or rather he is on theirs. There you have a practical illustration of his principles put into practice. Why haven't they advanced? Why haven't they progressed? Why are they not enlightened? Hay?" and the visitor drew himself back and scowled at the journalist, as if to compel an answer.

"That's what's the matter," said the latter, anxious to say something, and without a well-defined idea of what he meant by the expression.

"Yes, that is what's the matter," said the visitor, "and now you just give it to him. Here's your grand opportunity. Here's your opening; here's your chance to tickle thousands and crush Ingersoll and infidelity at one blow? Will you do it?"

The editor said he would try to mention the matter, and rubbing his hands in great enjoyment the stranger withdrew. And it isn't a bad one on Ingersoll, that's a fact.

The Wheat King.

Oliver Dalrymple, the wheat king lives at Fargo, Dak. He may be seen anywhere and everywhere on his mammoth estate throughout the day. Afoot, on horseback, or in carriage, he is always on hand to look after his own and his partners' interests, and every detail of the great business appears to him familiar. He is a tall, thin, pleasant-looking gentleman of about forty-five years of age, and though he would not be picked out in an assemblage as a great man, any one who visits the Dalrymple farms, in the Red River Valley, and sees the monarch of the American wheat fields at home, cannot but come away enthusiastic in praise of an executive ability which may well be compared to that of the manager of a great military campaign.

Conkling's Silence Explained.

From the Galveston News.

Senator Conkling is very busy keeping silent, but he said all that he wanted to say through the lips of Mrs. Sprague, who is by no means tongue-tied.

Be wise and happy.

If you will stop all your extravagant and wrong notions in doctoring yourself and families with expensive doctors or humbug cure-alls, that do harm always, and use only nature's simple remedies for all your ailments—you will be wise, well and happy, and save great expense. The greatest remedy for this, the great, wise and good will tell you, is Hop Bitters—rely on it. See another column.

Cuticura

REMEDIES

Infallibly Cure all Skin and Scalp Diseases, Scaly Eruptions, Itchings, and Irritations

The testimonials of permanent cures of Skin and Scalp Diseases which have been the torture of a lifetime by the Cuticura Remedies, are more wonderful than any methods or remedies known to the medical profession.

Cuticura Resolvent, a powerful Blood Purifier, is the only purifying agent which finds its way into the circulating fluid and thence through the oil and sweat glands to the surface of the skin, thus destroying the poisonous elements with which these vessels have been daily charged.

Cuticura, The Great Skin Cure, applied externally, arrests all unnatural or morbid growth which cover the surface of the diseased glands and tubes with Scaly, Itching, and Irritating Humors, speedily it removes them leaving the pores open, healthy, and free from diseased particles of matter.

Thus internally and externally do these great remedies act in conjunction, performing cures that have astonished the most noted physicians of the day.

Salt Rheum for 30 Years

On the Head, Face, and Greater Parts of the Body, Cured.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen, I have been a great sufferer with Salt Rheum for 30 years, commencing in my head and face and extending over the greater part of my body. I have taken gallons of medicines for the blood of different kinds and tried good physicians all of which did me no good, and I came to the conclusion that I could not be cured. But a friend called my attention to an article in the Union on skin diseases, and I got a box of Cuticura. The first application was a great relief and the third took the scales all off, and I felt like a new man. I have used three 50-cent boxes and my skin is smooth and I consider myself entirely cured. Hoping that this may be seen by some one afflicted as I have been (if there is any) is my earnest wish. And I cheerfully recommend it to all persons afflicted with like diseases. Yours truly,

B. WILSON LORD.

AGAWAM, MASS., Sept. 9, 1878.

The Cuticura Soap should be used for cleansing all diseased surfaces, as most soaps are injurious to the Skin.

LEPROSY.

A Modern Miracle. Astonishing Results from the use of Cuticura.

Messrs. WEEKS & POTTER: Gentlemen,—We have a case of Leprosy in our poorhouse which is being cured by your Cuticura remedies. The county had employed all of our doctors and had sent to New York for advice, but to no avail.

The patient commenced using the Cuticura and immediately began getting better. He had been confined to his bed for two and one half years. Had not had his clothes on during this time. Last week he dressed for the first time.

When he walked, there would at least one quart of scales come off of him.

This happened every day.

We think it is a wonderful cure.

We do not think he is cured, but he is in a fair way to be cured to say the least.

Yours truly,
DUNNING BROTHERS,
Druggists and Book ellers.

ALLEGAN, MICH., Feb. 11, 1879.

NOTE.—Messrs. Dunning Brothers are thoroughly reliable gentlemen, and were unknown to us prior to the receipt of this letter. We firmly believe this Cuticura will permanently cure this very severe case of leprosy, as it has done many others.

Prepared by Weeks & Potter, Chemists and Druggists, 360 Washington Street, Boston, Mass., and for sale by all Druggists and Dealers. Price of Cuticura, small boxes, 50 cents; large boxes containing two and one half times the quantity of small, $1. Resolvent, $1 per bottle. Cuticura Soap, 25 cents per cake; by mail, 30 cents: 3 cakes, 75 cents.

MRS. MOON IN PERSON.

A Wonderful Religion Awaking in the Hearts of the People.

Correspondence of the News.

ROXBORO, August 26.—Showers continue, and the land is kept in good growing condition. The prospect for a good tobacco crop is flattering, so as to sweet potatoes and turnips.

Mrs. Moon is holding meeting here with great success. She commenced here on Sunday, the 3d instant, and has been constantly engaged ever since. While some doubted, on principle, the propriety of woman teaching in public, yet there was no decided opposition to her movements. Those who had the gravest doubts, concluded to watch the development of things, and in a few days the whole community become under such religious influence as was never before felt in this community. True, many went to hear her from curiosity, but they returned to hear her from interest. Eyes have wept that were unused to weep, and hearts have throbbed with the deepest emotions that were unused to feel. Up to this writing some twenty-five or thirty persons have professed faith, and of that number are many who would have been the least thought of as subjects of divine grace. When the work was developed no one uttered a sylable against her movements. Whether it is regular or irregular for woman to teach in public, all who have attended the meetings have been impressed with an unusual degree of divine power accompanying her efforts. She expects to remain with us during the present week. From this place she expects to go to New Bethel, in Orange, on the 5th Sabbath. She is a remarkable woman, deeply imbued with the spirit of Christ. Most of her public efforts are exhortations and entreaties to repentance, and well does she perform her work.

So far this season about 3,000 carloads of peaches have been shipped over the Delaware railway to the various markets of the country. A carload is about 500 baskets, so far to 1,500,000 baskets. This represents about three-fourths of the peninsula crop gathered so far. One fourth reached markets by water routes. The crop is now about two-thirds gathered and when all is in will amount to something over 3,000,000 baskets.

If you wish to get the best go to Yeargan, Petty & Jones and ask for a spool of the Mile-End cotton. They sell over five hundred dozen of this every month—the best spool cotton in use. *

No man can do a good job of work, preach a good sermon, try a law suit well, doctor a patient, or write a good article when he feels miserable and dull, with sluggish brain and unsteady nerves, and none should make the attempt in such a condition when it can be so easily and cheaply removed by a little Hop Bitters. See other column.

A sociable man is one who. when he has ten minutes to spare, goes and bothers somebody who hasn't, and always smokes Blackwell's fragrant Durham Bull Smoking Tobacco.

Quick Fortunes in Stocks.

Vast sums of money are made in quick turns of stocks in Wall street. Business has never been more successful. By the new combination plan, large and small investments (from $25 to $10,000) are combined in one vast sum, and operated by the most skillful experience, securing immense power in the stock market and gaining splendid profits. Thousands of customers are thus united in one concurr nt enterprise, and receive their pro rata profits monthly. An Indiana country merchant made $17,892.41 in four operations. A Texas cattle dealer made $32,615.94 in two combinations; a St. Louis shipping merchant made $47,876.21 in less than six months, all through the combination plan of Messrs. Lawrence & Co., which has realized the grandest successes in the history of the stock market. Their new circular, with "unerring rules for success," and complete explanations how to make money in stocks, mailed by Messrs. Lawrence & Co., Bankers, 57 Exchange Place, New York City. *

BOVINE, MISSISSIPPI, April 22, 1879.—The following correspondence will explain itself: A. WADDILL, Esq., LYNCHBURG, VA.—Dear Sir: Observing a certificate from you in reference to the "Iron and Alum Mass," of the Seven Springs, in Washington county, Va., in relation to its efficacy for Liver Diseases, would you have the kindness to inform me whether you used the "Mass" or the "Water;" also, a description of the symptoms and such other information as you may deem pertinent. I am a long-time sufferer with Liver Complaint, and naturally feel very anxious on the subject of a remedy that will afford me even temporary relief. Your early reply will greatly oblige, very respectfully,

WILLIAM BARR.

LYNCHBURG, Va., May 12, 1879.—WM. BARR, Esq., Bovine, Mississippi—Dear Sir: Your inquiry in regard to the "Liver case" which was effectually cured in my family from using the "Seven Springs Mass," is before me. The case referred to in my certificate was that of my wife's sister, who is now in her 80th year, and has been a member of my family for the last 27 years. She had been afflicted with Liver Disease for 30 years, sometimes almost dying with pains in the back, breast, and heaviness of the chest, heart-burns (intensely), sick stomach, vomiting, &c. I procured a few bottles of the "Mass" for her, and very soon after she began the use of it, her health commenced to get better, and she continued steadily to improve, and at this writing, so old, seemingly in as good health as a person who had never been afflicted with these diseases. She attributes her cure entirely to the efficacy of the "Seven Springs Mass." I regard it one of the greatest family medicines we have access to, not only for such diseases as above indicated, but for various other complaints for which it is recommended. Hoping these answers satisfactory, I am, very truly, A. WADDILL, Proprietor Lynchburg News.

It is asserted that the ordinary cosmetics used by ladies are productive of great mischief. We believe this is so, and that a better means of securing a beautiful complexion is to use some blood medicine like Rosadalis, the great Southern Remedy, which cleanses the blood and gives permanent beauty to the skin.
